6. Summarize John Locke's view of liberty.

ANS:

- a. Some rights are discoverable in nature by reason
- b. In the "state of nature" (society before government), the strong can threaten the liberty of the weak.
- c. The instinct for self-preservation leads people to want government.
- d. The power of the government must be limited by the consent of the governed.

REF: 27

7. Identify the primary features of the so-called Virginia Plan.

ANS:

- a. The plan called for a strong national union.
- b. It provided for a separation of powers.
- c. It suggested a bicameral legislature.
- d. It proposed one branch of the legislature to be directly elected and the second to be chosen by state legislatures.
- e. Executive and members of the national judiciary were to be chosen by the national legislature.
- f. A council of revision could veto legislation (which could be overridden).

REF: 28

8. Carefully explain the result of the Great Compromise.

ANS:

- a. There would be a bicameral national legislature.
- b. The House of Representatives would be directly elected by the people and membership would be based on population (larger states would have more members).
- c. The Senate would be selected by the state legislatures and membership would be based on equality (each state would have two Senators).

10. Identify 3–4 ways that Congress can "check" the powers of the president.

ANS

- a. Refusing to pass a bill the president wants
- b. Passing a law over the president's veto
- c. Impeachment
- d. Refusing to approve of a presidential nominee
- e. Refusing to ratify a treaty

REF: 31

11. Carefully explain James Madison's view of liberty and the size of a republic.

ANS

Liberty is most secure in a large (or "extended") republic because

- a. In a small republic, a dominant view can suffocate minority viewpoints.
- b. In a large republic, opinions and interests will multiply.
- c. As a result, it is much harder for a tyrannical majority to develop in a large republic.
- d. The coalitions necessary to form in order to gain power are likely to be more moderate in a large republic.
- f. Moreover, Liberty is more likely to be respected, secure.

REF: 33

- 12. Summarize the reasons provided by the authors as to why the Constitution contained no Bill of Rights.
  - a. The Constitution did contain a number of specific guarantees of individual liberty.
  - b. Most states had bills of rights.
  - c. The Framers thought they were creating a government with specific, limited powers.

- c. Guarantee that escaped slaved would be returned to their owners.

REF: 38

14. What was Charles Beard's view of the Constitution and how has it held up under the light of subsequent research?

ANS:

- a. The better-off urban and commercial classes favored the Constitution because they could benefit the most from it (they held government IOUs).
- b. Research in the 1950s indicated economic self-interest could not explain much of the support for the Constitution (some rich delegates were non-supportive, some of modest means were supportive).
- c. Advanced statistical research in the 1980s found the economic interest of states carried more weight than the economic interests of individuals.

REF: 39

15. Some believe the government would benefit from reforms which reduce the separation of powers. What are some specific proposals might accomplish this end?

ANS:

- a. Allow the president to appoint members of Congress to the Cabinet.
- b. Allow the president to dissolve Congress and call for a special election.
- c. Allow Congress to require presidents to face special elections when confidence appears to be lost.
- d. Require presidential and congressional candidates to run as a team in each congressional district.
- e. Have the president serve a single six-year term.
- f. Lengthen the terms for members of the House.
