Identify a characteristic of racial microaggressions.

They are also known as overt racism, as they are done consciously.

They are directed at members of a majority group.

They are ambiguous and can be a source of stress.

They are rare in the United States, as they have largely been replaced by overt racism.

Deena, an American Indian, attends a lecture on international relations. The professor talks about the positive impact of the recent meetings between the ambassadors of the United States and developing nations. Deena voices her opinion that such meetings are inconsequential without the discussion of the history between the United States and the developing nations. The professor asks Deena to calm down and ultimately ignores the suggestion, making no changes or clarifications to his message. Which of the following is best exemplified in this scenario?

disparate treatment

reverse discrimination

overt racism

racial microaggression

Research on nonhuman species suggests that same-gender sexual behavior is the predominant form of sexual interaction among nonhuman species.

found only in primates.

found in primates and some other species.

nonexistent in all other species apart from humans.

Which of the following statements concerning cross-species observations of sexuality is true?

Masturbation is absent in all mammalian species except humans.

Female masturbation is found among many species beside our own.

Sexual signaling is observed in animals but not humans.

Same-gender sexual attraction is a unique facet of sexual behavior in humans.

Observations of other species indicate that our basic mammalian heritage is bisexual, composed of both heterosexual and homosexual elements.
composed exclusively of same-gender sexual behavior.
created by the expression of heterosexual tendencies alone.
markedly asexual in nature, as procreation does not require sexual intercourse.

There are several species of mammals among which the males often mount other males, and anal intercourse has been observed in some male primates. The most likely explanation of this behavior is that there is homosexual behavior among many species of mammals.

basic mammalian heritage is composed exclusively of homosexual tendencies.
there is a scarcity of females in all species.
basic mammalian heritage is composed exclusively of heterosexual tendencies.

A female macaque “parades” in front of a group of males and then makes eye contact with one of them. Which of the following best describes this behavior by the female?

the "caution" look
sexual signaling
the "brush-off"
phallic aggression

When interacting with males, the female patas monkey puffs out her cheeks and drools. This is an example of sexual signaling.
phallic aggression.

the incest taboo.

Which of the following is the general trend observed in the sexual behavior of higher species (primates), as compared with lower species (e.g., mice) ?

Males generally engage in sexual activity during estrus.

The environment has no influence in the sexual behavior of higher species.

Sexual behavior is completely controlled by hormones.

Sexual behavior is controlled more by the brain than hormones.

In virtually all mammalian species, females engage in sexual behavior about once a week.

only when they are in "heat."

only when the male initiates it.

at regular intervals that are determined primarily by the availability of mature males.

Studies have shown that if rhesus monkeys are reared in isolation, their adult sexual behavior is severely disturbed, to the point where they may be incapable of reproducing. However, if mice are reared in isolation, their adult sexual behavior will nonetheless be normal. Which of the following statements best explains the difference in outcomes?

Sexual activity is purely a function of biology in monkeys.

Monkeys are incapable of learning through observing their environment.

Environmental influences play a stronger role in sexuality in higher species than in lower ones.

For all higher species, sexual activity is limited to a natural mechanism of reflexes and hormones.

The key difference in human female sexuality from that of other "lower" species is that in nonhuman species, the females often have more than one sexual partner.

the females of nonhuman species attain sexual maturity late in their life cycles.

only females of the human species experience orgasm.

in nonhuman species, female sexual behavior is strongly controlled by hormones.

Which of the following is an example of sexual behavior used for nonsexual purposes?

a rapist using sex as an expression of power over a woman any individual engaging in sexual activity as an end in itself

an individual renting a porn movie on a Sunday afternoon for physical stimulation an individual engaging in sexual intercourse when the female is potentially fertile

Which of the following statements is true regarding the sexual health movement?

It is purely a social movement.

It exclusively promotes physical sexual health.

It involves a vision of positive sexual relationships.

Its only focus is the prevention of sexual diseases.

An example of a negative sexual right is the freedom to express one's sexuality with same-gender partners.

freedom to experience sexual pleasure.

freedom from sexual violence.

right to reproductive self-determination.

Freedom from all forms of discrimination based on sex, sexuality, or gender is an example of a(n) _____ sexual right.

variable

positive

affirmative

Which of the following is an example of a positive sexual right?

freedom to coerce a partner into nonconsensual sex

freedom from physical abuse

freedom from sexual abuse

freedom to experience sexual pleasure

Identify an example of a positive sexual right.

the right of a person to discriminate against others based on their sexual orientation

the right of a man to have nonconsensual sex with a woman

the right of a man to have consensual sex with his same-sex partner

the right of a woman to be free of sexual abuse

What is meant by the terms sex and gender? Why are the differences between the two terms important?

What are some of the similarities in the works of the early researchers who undertook the scientific study of sex?

Describe three of the theories of media influence developed by communications theorists, and give an example of each.

In the context of human sexuality, what are the advantages and disadvantages of Internet use?

Compare the various sexual perspectives and rituals in the societies of Inis Beag and Mangaia.

How do the concepts of machismo and marianismo affect sexual expression in Latinx culture?

Briefly explain the concept of racial microaggressions with an example.

Describe some aspects of human sexuality that are unique to our species.

Give three examples that highlight the use of sexual behavior for nonsexual purposes.

Should same-sex marriages be made a basic sexual right? Why or why not?
