https://selldocx.com/products

ANSWER:	independent interditional beautiful transferring	storming)D3
		G
REFERENCES:	38
2. A	group does not admit new member	s once it has been established.
ANSWER:		closed
REFERENCES:		50
REI EREIVEES.		30
3. During themembership.	stage members share what the	y've learned and how they have ch	anged as a result of group
ANSWER:		closing (ending)
REFERENCES:		37
4. When group members is in the	s check their comfort level with one a stage.	nother and discuss what may happ	en in the group, the group
ANSWER:		beginning
REFERENCES:		36
5. The authors use the temembers and leaders.	erms group process and group	to refer to the attitudes and	d interaction of group
ANSWER:		dynamics
REFERENCES:		34
Corey (2007). ANSWER: REFERENCES:		storming 38
REFERENCES.		50
	stage group members focus o		age in personal sharing.
ANSWER:		working
REFERENCES:		37
8. Many counseling, the ANSWER:	herapy, and growth groups go thro	ugh astage.
REFERENCES:		37
REFERENCES.		37
Available choices:
A. counseling/therapy B. discussion
C. education
D. growth/experiential
E. self-help
F. support G. task
U. IASK
9. Members of a parenti their reactions to the ma	ing group in the working stage careful aterial.	ly listen to the leader, and then dis-	cuss the topic and share
ANSWER:			c
REFERENCES:			41

and compete with one another as they enter a storming stage.
ANSWER:	d
REFERENCES:	42
11. New members are welcome at a weekly weight loss group started by a local counselor.
ANSWER:	f
REFERENCES:	43
12. Group meetings are led by a different member each week, although the counselor period progress of the group and to provide structure or redirection when needed.	odically drops in to check the
ANSWER:	e
REFERENCES:	45
13. When planning to lead a community agency group for adolescents with severe behavior is keenly aware of the potential for complex personal dynamics to disrupt group functioning the leader has read and trained extensively on the nature of behavioral disorders and has converge.	g. In preparation for the group
ANSWER:	a
REFERENCES:	44
14. Members of a breast cancer survivors' group are in their second session of closing. The weeks and many are deeply saddened that the group is ending. Members have developed trand will miss the support and camaraderie of the group.	rust and care for one another,
ANSWER:	f
REFERENCES:	43
15. In the beginning stage of a voluntary therapy group, it is not uncommon for members to	o
a. Take the first session or two to feel comfortable in the group
b. Bring photographs of significant persons in their lives to show
c. Refuse to talk until the leader tells her life story
d. Open themselves up immediately to other group members
ANSWER:	a
REFERENCES:	44
16. In a support group, when members do not trust one another
a. the leader should insist that they do trust each other if they are to stay
b. the leader usually tells her own story of suffering to encourage others to share
c. the group is not effective
d. non-trusting members are asked to leave the group
ANSWER:	c
REFERENCES:	43
17. Which is NOT a therapeutic force in a group setting as defined by the authors? a. Clarity of purpose
b. Marital status of the members
c. Adequacy of setting
d. Level of trust among members
ANSWER:	b
III IVII DIL.	U

10. The purpose of the group is to team build, however, members still begin to form small cliques, struggle for leadership,

REFERENCES: 47

18. The auth	ors use which terms to refer to the attitudes and interaction of group members and leaders	?
a.	Group cohesion and group think
b	Group processes and group dynamics
c.	Group unity and group structure
d.	Group development and group interface
ANSWER:		b
REFERENC	ES:	35
19. This stag	ge is the core of the group process; it is the period when members most benefit from being	in the group
	a. Beginning
	b. Middle
	c. Closing
	d. Ending
ANSWER:		b
REFERENC	ES:	37
20 171 4
20. The auth	ors of this text propose a stage group model a. Six
	b. Five
	c. Three
ANCINED.	d. Seven
ANSWER:	EC.	C 25
REFERENC	ES.	35
21. One sign	of the storming stage of a group is a.
b	Increased conflict between members
c.	Increased comfort among members
d	Increased productivity among members
ANSWER:		b
REFERENC	ES:	38
22. The auth	ors recommend that non-voluntary group members who contribute to a negative group dy	namic be a ŀ
c	excused early from the group.
ć
ANSWER:		d
REFERENC	ES:	52
23. Which is	NOT a characteristic of members who lack commitment to the group?
a.	They try to argue with the leader.
b.	They contribute very little to discussions.
c.	They develop trust within one or two sessions.

d. Th	ney vie to b	be the center of attention in the group.
ANSWER:			c
REFERENCES:			52
24. When a groupreserve trust in		comes under attack from another member of a counseling or therapy grouby	ip, the leader can
a. explaini	ng that atta	acks will not be permitted in the group.
b. showing	g concern a	and support for the member under attack.
	ng how the hurting oth	e comments may have been better said, so that the attacking member could hers.	I feel heard
d. doing ar	ny of the av	vailable choices.
ANSWER:			d
REFERENCES:			53
25. In this stage, meaningful shar		ay last a few minutes or for a few sessions, members are building trust to s	et the stage for
C	a.	Closing
	b.	Transition
	c.	Beginning
	d.	Middle/working
ANSWER:			c
REFERENCES:			36
26 In this stage	some mer	mbers will have an emotional experience saying goodbye to the group.
20. m mis stage,	a.	Closing
	b.	Transition
	c.	Beginning
	d.	Middle/working
ANSWER:	u.	Made Working	a
REFERENCES:			38
REI EREIVEES.			30
		arally diverse membership, this stage may need to last a couple of sessions or table with one another.	or longer because
	a.	closing
	b.	transition
	c.	beginning
	d.	middle/working
ANSWER:			c
REFERENCES:			36
28. Storming is 1	LEAST lil	kely to occur when
a.	leaders 1	provide structure.
b.	member	rs are forced to attend.
c.	group g	oals include team building.
d.	none of	the available choices
ANSWER:			a
REFERENCES:			38

29. According to the	he authors, the single mo	st important therapeutic force	e of a group is the:
a.	leader's attitude.
b.	clarity of purpose.
c.	adequacy of the setting
d.	level of trust among me	embers.
ANSWER:	-		ь
REFERENCES:			47
	_	ne group leader in creating a
_		nervousness in front of the g	group.
b. Experien	nce in individual therapy.
c. Presence	e of a co-leader, supervise	or or a colleague to help lead	the group
d. All of th	ne available choices
ANSWER:			d
REFERENCES:			47
31. Regardless of thave impact.	the purpose of a group, th	e more members in the grou	p the greater chances the group will go well and
1	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			False
REFERENCES:			48
TELL BILET (CES,			. C
32. Non-voluntary	members of a group can	never be convinced that the	group experience may be helpful.
	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			False
REFERENCES:			51
22	:	:11 4-C-:4-1CC4-1	all the annual will as
33. A leader's leel		will definitely affect how we	en the group will go.
	a. 1-
ANGINED	b.	False	T
ANSWER:			True
REFERENCES:			50
		when group members learn ning and therapeutic work.	new material, thoroughly discuss various topics,
	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			False
REFERENCES:			36
35. Most counselin	ng, therapy, support, and	growth groups do NOT expe	rience a transition stage
	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			False

REFERENCES: 37

36. One of the mos	st important observable gr	oup dynamics is who tal	ks to whom and how often each member speaks.
	a.	True	•
	b.	False
ANSWER:			True
REFERENCES:			39
37. It is important	that the group leader response	ond to each group memb	er after they make a comment.
	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			False
REFERENCES:			40
_	ng stage of a group lasts nbers are not ready for		sion, the leader is obviously doing something
	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			False
REFERENCES:			36
39. Group proces	s refers to the interaction	on and energy exchange	e between and among members and leaders.
	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			True
REFERENCES:			35, 39
	tage of an Education Gr		d with a great deal of emotion that goes beyond.
	a.	True
	b.	False
ANSWER:			False
REFERENCES:			41-42
41. Why is it imp ANSWER:	therapeutic forces is li	n be positive, neutral, o kely to be more succes	encing the group? or negative. A group with positive or neutral asful than one with anti-therapeutic forces in a can make changes to influence the group
REFERENCES:	45
42. What can the	leader do when faced w	vith a group member th	at she does not like?
ANSWER:	If the leader has to lear recommend trying to members and herself.	d a group that includes find a co-leader or mak If the leader cannot ave	s members that she does not like, the authors sing the group as interesting as possible for both oid leading the group or change her feelings in the anti-therapeutic effects of this force.

50

REFERENCES:

43. Why is it important for a leader to monitor both the process and the content of the group?

ANSWER:

A skilled leader should always monitor process and content because both are important in ensuring that the group functions well and at meaningful depth. It is especially important to monitor during sessions so that the purpose and needs of the group are always met. Balance between them should be sought, since some researchers argue that content and process are mutually interactive.

REFERENCES: 55

44. How do the interaction patterns of members effect group dynamics?

ANSWER:

By noting how members interact in a group, the leader can decide which skills to use in order to promote good group dynamics. For instance, if a member tries to dominate discussions early in the group, the leader can use cutting off skills to give others the chance to share. If a member is frequently silent, the leader can use drawing out skills to facilitate greater participation. In addition, the leader can attend to whether or not he or she talks after each member so that members have more opportunities to interact with one another.

REFERENCES: 39

45. How does the setting where a group meets help or hinder group dynamics?

ANSWER:

With regard to the adequacy of the setting, the privacy, comfort, and use of furniture can affect group dynamics. If a room is quiet and away from high traffic areas, members may feel more comfortable opening up and sharing. By contrast, if privacy is not intact, other anti-therapeutic forces may be at work, such as concerns about confidentiality. Lighting, décor, and seating arrangements can add to or detract from members' level of comfort in the setting. The use of a table or chairs of different sizes may put physical or psychological barriers between people. Using a circular seating arrangement allows people to see one another and feel more included. The leader should attend to the adequacy of the setting as much as possible.

REFERENCES: 49

46. Discuss the processes that take place during the working stage of a group.

ANSWER:

The middle, or working stage is the stage of the group when members focus on the purpose of the group. In this stage, the members learn new material, thoroughly discuss various topics, complete tasks, or engage in personal sharing and therapeutic work. This stage is the core of the group process; it is the period when members benefit from being in the group. During the working stage many dynamics can occur because members are interacting in many different ways. The leader must attend to the interaction patterns and attitudes of the members toward each other and the leader.

REFERENCES: 37

47. How do education groups differ from counseling and therapy groups?

ANSWER:

Education groups differ from counseling and therapy groups in many ways. In an education group, the leader usually presents some information that will be beneficial for members to learn. Although members of an education group may interact with one another, personal interaction is not the most important group dynamic. In counseling and therapy groups, members deal with sensitive, personal issues. Complex group dynamics can exist in counseling and therapy groups, so the leader must be keenly aware of group dynamics, attending to how members feel about the leader and one another.

REFERENCES: 41, 44

48. What role does commitment play in the development of group process?

ANSWER: Members lacking commitment are often those who are forced to attend, as well as those who want to direct the group or be the center of attention. When commitment is low, members tend to get off track, show little interest, contribute very little, display disruptive behavior, argue with the leader or attack each other. These behaviors prevent the group from moving forward and achieving it's purpose.

REFERENCES: 52