132) $$42,000 = $24,000 + $18,000$.
Economic performance occurs for the rent ratably over time, so only $24,000 is accrued ($2,000 per month times six months). Insurance is a payment liability and accrues only as paid. However, since the payment spans two periods (six months this year and six months next year), the portion benefiting the future period would typically be capitalized. In this case, the duration of the contract does not exceed 12 months and the payment does not extend beyond the end of next year. So, the 12-month rule allows for the deduction of $18,000. Note that the 12-month rule cannot apply to the rent until economic performance occurs, and this only happens ratably.
