

CHAPTER 7

1. A study in 2011 showed that 47% of parents worry about their child's exposure to _____ :
 - A. violence
 - B. divorce
 - C. inappropriate content on the internet or cell phones
 - D. bullying
2. Separation anxiety is a vulnerability to abandonment and can appear at:
 - A. The age of 8-9 months
 - B. Infancy, when the mother leaves the room
 - C. Any age, depending on the culture
 - D. The start of kindergarten, when the child goes to school
3. A positive model for working with children and their fears is to
 - A. Respect them and learn to be sensitive
 - B. Listen and then minimize the concern
 - C. Remind them of the reality of where their fears come from
 - D. Give them the chance to figure it out before helping
4. Children are influenced in the way they view society through both _____ influences learned from parents and _____ influences learned through the wider society
 - A. Immediate, general
 - B. Macrocultural, microcultural
 - C. Microcultural, macrocultural
 - D. Macrocultural, general
5. An important aspect of childhood development that has been decreasing since the 1950s is
 - A. Learning
 - B. Structured games
 - C. Friendship
 - D. Play
6. Food security is the knowledge there will be enough food for:
 - A. dinner
 - B. a family to sustain or lead a healthy life
 - C. a community to be healthy
 - D. people to survive a nuclear war
7. Which of these is NOT a normal developmental fear of childhood?
 - A. bombings and being invaded
 - B. loud noises

- C. separation anxiety
- D. fear of heights

8. How can magical thinking increase a child's anxiety level?
- A. he might imagine a monster in his closet
 - B. he may believe he caused his grandfather's heart attack
 - C. she may wish for too many presents
9. How can Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs inform our work with school aged children?
- A. it explains how unmet needs influence children's social development
 - B. it tells us whether or not a child had breakfast that day
 - C. it provides us with vocabulary to explain what parents are doing wrong
 - D. it's a good curriculum planning tool